Books that Celebrate Diversity

Introducing your child to books that celebrate diversity is so important! Children's books can serve as both mirrors and windows on the world. Mirrors in that they can reflect on children's own lives, and windows in that they can give children a chance to learn about someone else's life. This type of self-reflection and opportunity to read or hear about different lives is essential for nurturing awareness and promoting a sense of inclusivity and equality!

Books naturally generate curiosity, questions, comments and conversation!

Here are some ideas of books to help you get this conversation started!

Title: ONE LOVE Author: Cedella Marley 	Title: I Am Enough Author: Grace Byers Title: LOVELY Author: Jess Hong 	Title: The Skin You Live In Author: Michael Taylor
Title: The Day You Begin Author: Jacqueline Woodson 	Title: We're Different, We're the Same Author: Bobbi Kates and Joe Mathieu Title: Happy In Our Skin Author: Fran Manushkin 	Title: The World Needs More Purple People Author: Jan Thomas Title: The Same But Different Too Author: Karl Newson 	Title: The Big Umbrella Author: Amy June Bates
https://empowersimcoe.ca/early-literacy/